

Challenging and fulfilling experiences, globally!

Electrolux is looking at the global partnership with AIESEC as a sure way to build future leadership within the company, to access international talent and build Electrolux as a strong employer brand in the international student community.

Kristoffer Ljungfelt - Electrolux intern in Denmark from Sweden

Why Electrolux

If you're raised in Sweden, you definitely know, or at least have heard a lot about Electrolux. So, when I heard that there is an available position with Electrolux Laundry Systems in Denmark, I've got more excited to get to know what has been the world known company's key to success.

In my own words...

The environment in which we work is very international and thus very inspiring for people, that enjoy to experience different cultures and to meet different people. For example, my four managers above me in the hierarchy are from France, USA, Italy and Belgium. And considering the fact that we all are working from Copenhagen, I think it is pretty amazing.

The work as a financial controller was perfectly in line with my studies in Corporate Finance. However, before understanding anything what so ever, I had to do a lot of boring manual work. But now, I'm very happy that I did this because now I have a fairly good understanding of the underlying work before the analysis and a much better overview while conducting the analysis.

More than internship

My responsibilities have grown every day. Moreover, I really appreciate the faith that my managers have put in me which enables me to be creative and to develop my personal as well as professional skills. As far as I have seen, this is how the working environment is throughout the whole company. Thus, this is a perfect challenge to anybody that is up for some hard and demanding work in order to develop as a person.

Heading for the future

But best of all – I got to stay here for quite a while now after having signed a fulltime employment agreement. Now I work as a finance controller at the laundry systems plant in Denmark.
